Kentucky Windage

(By P. W.)

Swinging... On A Rope

Prophetic headline from last week's NEWS: "Doodle Town Pipers Ready For Swinging."

The headline was referring to a "swinging good musical evening" but this week it could equally be applied to "swinging at the end of a rope from the nearest tree". The Doodlers, evidently related more than just casually to the Piper who was slightly Pied, were supposed to be the feature attraction of the Friday night Banana Festival program. A lot of tickets were sold; a lot of work had been done. Their agent, contacted in Jeffersonville, Indiana that very afternoon, had assured that "all was well" and that they would be here on schedule.

The evening arrived; the audience assembled and waited. At curtain time, no Doodlers. Time wore on; no Doodlers. Time ran out; no Doodlers. At this point I wish to refer you back to my opening sentence. It accurately describes the mood of the crowd.

Picture Pages

We hope you particularly enjoy this issue of the News with the many pictures of last week's Ninth Annual International Banana Festival. We are sorry that every program was not graphically reported, but then it would have been a super-human task to have been at so many interesting places at the same time.

We feel that we have covered the highlights, however. It is our suggestion that you get a copy, or several copies of this issue and send it to friends who were not able to attend. It's good advertising for the old hometown.

As you can see a lot of Festival pictures crowded me out of printer's ink. I'll write my comments on the Festival next week.

Airstream Visitors Live Up Festival

Along with the many visitors in the twin cities for the International Banana Festival were members of the Kentucky Airstream group, owners of Airstream trailers.

Each year, the group which is part of the international Wally Byam Caravan Club, meet at one festival in the country to hold a rally. This year, the Banana Festival was selected as the site for their meeting.

The group that was here included the international vice-president and set up their 34 trailers in the City Park adjacent to the swimming pool. They hope to have a joint rally between the Kentucky and Tennessee units for next year's Banana Festival.

Deadline Nears For Voter Registration

Only two and a half weeks remain before voter registration books close for the interim required by statute KRS 117-620.

According to the statute, registration must cease 50 days before the November 2 election. County Clerk Dee Langford says the books will be closed from September 7 through November 9.

Eligibility requirements for voters are: resident of state, one year; resident of county, six months; and resident of precinct, 60 days.

Voters can register at City Hall or at the County Clerk's office.

Governor Nunn Lauds Festival As Diplomatic Showcase

BEAUTY AND THE BENEFACITOR—That's the only way to identify this photograph. Gene Bond, of Standard Fruit and Steamship Company, an ardent supporter and financial backer of the International Banana Festival from the first year, is shown here with lovely Dixie Lee Traylor, the 1971-1972 Banana Festival Princess. Standard Fruit and Steamship Company, together with the enthusiasm of local people, has made the Banana Festival a significant vehicle for people-to-people diplomacy in the banana-producing countries of Central and South America.

Indiana Beauty Is Festival Princess

In what was probably the most intense competition to take place during the Festival activities, Miss Dixie Lee Traylor, a Vincennes, Indiana beauty with brown eyes and brown hair, was presented the title of Ninth International Banana Festival Princess.

Susan Gordon, the 1970 Princess, crowned her successor after judges eliminated the other 15 contestants in formal and swim suit competition.

Sharing honors at the August 12 pageant were Kim Nofsinger of Greenville, Kentucky, first runner-up, and Tyra Kathleen Vaughan, second runner-up from Edmonton, Kentucky.

Miss Traylor is a 1971 high school graduate and will enter Vincennes University this fall. She plans to make modeling her career.

The new princess holds another title. She is the reigning Indiana Rose Princess, Ted Tushinsky and the Indiana Rose Festival Incorporated of Indianapolis sponsored her in the Banana Festival Pageant.

First runner-up Kim Nofsinger is a sophomore at Belmont College, Nashville. She also holds another title, Miss Nofsinger was Miss Congeniality in the 1970 Miss Kentucky pageant.

Tyra Vaughan, second runner-up, attends Western Kentucky University. Her titles include that of Miss Cumberland

Judges for the parade units were: float, Mrs. Yewell Harrison and Mrs. J. P. Hule; drill team and drum majors, Peggy Spraggs and Robert White; bands, Yewell Harrison and Jessye P. Hule.

BAKE-OFF
Mrs. Leonard Allen, Sunset Drive in Fulton, produced a banana bread that grabbed her the grand champion award at the August 12 Banana Bake-Off.

Winners and prizes in Class AAA (senior high only) were: Christian County, first — $100 and trophy; Westview High, second — $50 and trophy; North Marshall High, third.

The Ninth International Banana Festival continued merrily on last week with the Governor's Luncheon in the spotlight on Friday.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn was guest of honor, along with Fulton's Latin American visitors, the "Amigos" (or friends), and they were made to feel like "one of the bunch."

Nunn praised the people of the Twin Cities for their "hands across the national boundaries."

Speaking before a crowd of 250 festival goers, Nunn said, "This banana festival works as a catalyst to develop friendship with the Latin Americans."

"The festival brings people together for a common objective," he said, "These things that unite us are greater than anything that divides us."

The audience sat elbow to elbow and listened intently as Nunn explained how the people of Fulton had worked hard to produce something of importance and their efforts had been worthwhile.

Saddened and almost emotional, his voice quivered and he said, "This is a sad day for me... This is the last time I can attend the festival as governor."

Dignitaries from throughout the Americas attended the event. Along with the governor of Kentucky was a representative of the office of Tennessee Gov. Winfield Dunn. Other dignitaries included the Republican nominee for governor, Tom Emberton, and nominee for lieutenant governor, James Host.

Preceding the luncheon, the ceremony at the Avenue of the Americas was held and the Inter-American Music Program followed.

Money, Ribbons And Trophies Are Awarded

Among the many events and activities growing out of the Banana Festival are several of a competitive nature. Saturday's parade, the banana bake-off, window fair exhibits, and the Princess Pageant all produced winners.

McKenzie High accepted an engraved trophy for best drum major. And Muhlenberg Central also won a trophy for best majorette.

In band competition the units were divided into three classes, AAA, AA, and A. No bands entered the Class A division (junior high and elementary students).

Winners and prizes in Class AA (senior and junior high) were: Dyer County, first — $100 and trophy; Muhlenberg Central, second — $50 and trophy; McKenzie High, third — trophy.

Winners and prizes in Class AAA (senior high only) were: Christian County, first — $100 and trophy; Westview High, second — $50 and trophy; North Marshall High, third.

Just mention a Fashion Show and women turn out in large numbers, and during the Banana Festival it's even more so. Before an audience of wall-to-wall people the latest fashions of South and North America were modeled. P-4 Fulton Co. News, Thursday, Aug. 19, 1971

If it can be said that the Banana Festival has a couple of great "God Fathers" then their names are the Kentucky and Tennessee Arts Commissions. In the top photo left is Querry Matthews, and directly below, the harpist Linda Wilson, and Wood and Georgie Bell (bottom right), Choctaw Indians and craftsmen of note, were presented by the Tennessee Arts Commission. Nunn Reports Education Is Local Affair

Governor Nunn believes Kentucky's educational problems can be met more effectively at the local, instead of state, level of government.

Kentucky must take a different approach toward its education system, the governor said in a recent interview, "for too long educational opportunity and the youth of this state have been sacrificed on the altar of political expediency."

"State government cannot continue to be held solely and wholly responsible for educational inadequacies," he added. The people on the local level "are better able to determine the needs of their community."

He said the true purpose of education should be "to prepare individual boys and girls to live with themselves and each other."

As parents, he continued, "We're going to have to assume part of the responsibility... as to what we want for our children, rather than letting legislators and educational leaders make all the decisions."

"We can't leave it up to a candidate for governor to devise the whole educational system or come up with a plan every four years."

"And you can't leave it up to the professional educators either... they become involved in administrative affairs... and sometimes become bogged down in physical needs," he said.

New Airport Proposal Concerns UC Chamber

A number of Union City Chamber of Commerce members, concerned by efforts of State Rep. Larry Bates of Martin to establish an airport within only 10 miles or so from Everett-Stewart Airport, met with Rep. Bates earlier this week.

State Income Tops Billion In 12 Months

State revenue for the fiscal year completed June 30 amounted to $1,243,397,622, or some $145 million more than during the previous 12 months.

The totals were released jointly by Kentucky's two top monetary officials, Finance Commissioner Albert Christen and Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett.

General Fund receipts totaled $568,333,697 for an increase of 8.1 per cent over last year and 1.5 per cent over the January estimate of $560 million, the report showed.

Total road fund receipts of $272.4 million were fractionally under last year's figure, while Agency Funds totaling over $402.5 were up 35 per cent.

Individual income tax receipts at $132.6 million rose 9.3 per cent, while $40 million in corporation income taxes was up 1.6 per cent.

All major agency fund sources showed increases, including federal money granted to Kentucky, which was up 28.5 per cent. Total federal grants in fiscal 1970-71, except those made to the Road Fund, were some $284 million.

The new 1/2-cent tax for cigarette research produced $2,607,142.

He said he feels that federal funds would be easier to get for

UTM Library Given Grant

A federal grant of $25,405 has been awarded to the Paul Meek Library at the University of Tennessee at Martin for the 1971-72 academic year, according to Joel Stowers, director of libraries.

The largest federal grant ever received by the UTM library, the allocation increases more than four-fold the $5,827 awarded for the 1970-71 year.

"The entire amount of the grant will be expended for the purchase of books," Mr. Stowers said.

Although the library collection has grown rapidly during the past year and now totals 113,472 volumes in addition to more than 30,000 government documents, the number is still inadequate, according to American Library Association standards.

The immediate goal, Mr. Stowers said, is the acquisition of 250,000 volumes, which will bring the university to association standards.

Bob Cole, UTM director of development, said, "Our library's critical needs may be met if concerned individuals will contribute to the university's Pacemaker 71 campaign or the Library Development Fund. Donors should specify that their gifts be directed toward library needs."

During the past academic year, the library made a net gain of 30,548 volumes, after allowing for the withdrawal of outdated or obsolete volumes. Much of this gain was attributed to the acquisition of a 20,000 volume library on microfiche, which deals primarily with all aspects of American culture. The collection, much of which is out of print, will serve as primary source material for students and faculty in research work.

In addition to the federal grant, the library received donations of $987.50 from individuals during the past year for book purchases through the Library Development Fund. Among those donors were the student members of three campus organizations: the Circle K Club, which issued a challenge to other groups to match its gift; Phi Beta Alpha; and McCord A Residence Hall.

Group Providing Jobs For Handicapped Persons

Handicapped Workers of Kentucky is providing jobs for the handicapped in telephone sales of long-lasting light bulbs.

This private enterprise approach to providing work and compensation for the handicapped was begun by Filbert Martocci three and one-half years ago in Knoxville, Tenn.

Since then, it has spread to Nashville, Chattanooga and Memphis, Tenn., Jackson, Miss., and Houston, Texas. Offices also have been opened in Louisville, Lexington and Owensboro. About 200 people are employed in all of these locations.

Employees receive a short training period and then receive $1.60 per hour, plus a bonus based on sales. The employees call on both residences and businesses. A person who places an order is sent his light bulbs by mail and is expected to make his payment within two weeks.

The bulbs, which come in most watt sizes, are manufactured in South Carolina and are guaranteed for five years. They are sold only by the Handicapped Workers.

There are no employment requirements as to age or education.

People who want to send money instead of buying light bulbs are told that the program is one of free enterprise, not charity, and that contributions cannot be accepted.

The company has a relationship with the Bureau of Rehabilitation which sends people to be interviewed and hired.

Platinum Very Heavy

WASHINGTON — A cubic foot of platinum weighs more than half a ton; a similar cube of coal weighs only about 80 pounds.

EATING IN—When Mrs. Myrtle Harton (right) brought some of her black pepper casserole bread to The Messenger the other day to pass out samples, she had very little trouble encouraging Tommy Bynum or Mrs. Loice Batts.

The bread was made with Gourmet Pepper, now being sold by members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Union City at $1.25 a bottle.

Makes Bread With Pepper

Mrs. Myrtle Harton is figuring out all sorts of ways to use the Gourmet Pepper her Business and Professional Women's Club is now in the process of selling throughout Union City.

With more than 1,000 of the bottles to sell, the club can probably use just about any suggestion she may have, too. Profits will be used for the many B&PW projects.

Mrs. Harton's latest contribution is her black pepper casserole bread which she says must be made with the B&PW's "sneezeless" pepper.

She advises the little woman: "You'll feel the warm appreciation from your family and guests for offering them the homey goodness of black pepper bread you baked yourself. This bread is great, hot or cold, with any meal and especially with your evening cookouts."

Her recipe is as follows:

GOURMET
BLACK PEPPER
CASSEROLE BREAD
(THE SNEEZELESS PEPPER)
2 1/2 to 3 cups All Purpose Flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 teaspoons Gourmet Black Pepper (Available only from Union City B&PW Club members)
1/4 teaspoons salt

Low Income Families Get Food Stamps

During June 1,517 low-income persons in Fulton County received food stamps valued at $37,226.00, Commissioner of the Department of Economic Security Merritt S. Deitz, Jr., has announced.

This record compares to 1,148 persons in Fulton County who received food stamps at a cost of $27,702.00 during June of 1970.

Commissioner Deitz pointed out that Kentucky's Food Stamp Program, administered by the Kentucky Department of Economic Security and the Department of Agriculture, safeguards the health of the nation's low-income families through better nutrition.

Families in the program exchange an amount of their own money, usually spent for food, to purchase food coupons.

Emberton Plugs Hole In Spending Proposal

Republican gubernatorial nominee Tom Emberton has closed an apparent loophole in his plan to limit campaign spending.

Emberton said Friday that the $300,000 advertising budgets he had recommended for each political party earlier in the week should cover any advertising purchased prior to Labor Day or use between then and the Nov. 2 election.

Originally Emberton had recommended that the advertising selling, which averages out to approximately 15 cents per eligible voter, only cover expenditures after Labor Day.

Meanwhile, Emberton's Democratic opponent, Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, told 6th District party workers in Lexington the Republican administration of Gov. Louie B. Nunn had allowed the rate of strip mining in Kentucky to double.

Questioning how Emberton intended to provide tax relief Ford asked, "Is he going to cut funds for education, or increase the tax on tobacco? Is he going to cut health services or increase the state tax on property?"

Ford also said the Republicans had spent "498 million for additional state payrolls, which they said they were going to cut and $33 million for personal service contracts, which they said they were going to eliminate."
